Over the years, Innovation Norway has conducted several Optima studies across different markets. The main objective of these studies is to get a better understanding of Norway’s key markets.

This study is conducted using Censydiam, Ipsos research tool for motivational research.

The approach identifies the underlying physiological needs consumers seek to satisfy when travelling abroad on holiday.

The purpose of the research:

- TO IDENTIFY THE BEST MEANS OF STRENGTHENING THE FUTURE OF THE VISIT NORWAY BRAND AND NORWAY AS A TOURIST DESTINATION
- TO UNDERSTAND THE COMPETITIVE LANDSCAPE AND TARGET NEEDS TO PROMOTE INNOVATION AND COMMUNICATION

The research was conducted in Germany, Russia and the Netherlands in 2011/2012.

We have conducted four focus groups and 1,200 web interviews in each country with respondents that have been on holiday abroad during the last two years.
Executive summary - Main findings

- Fundamental meaning of going on holiday across the three markets
  - In the quantitative study, we found that there are some common denominators across all types of holiday and across all segments:
  - Holidays abroad must always help people to escape from their daily lives!
  - The core of all holidays is about escapism, discovering new and interesting places and being together. All holidays must fulfil these criteria regardless of the type of holiday.

- The segments
  - The research has identified eight motivational segments; Liberation, Sharing Good Times, Togetherness, Harmony, Routine, Broadening your Horizon, Luxury and Exploration.

- Across the three markets, Norway is mostly associated in two motivational segments:
  - Exploration:
    - Emotional benefits sought by the tourist: Gives me rich experiences, Discover new and interesting places, Escape from my hectic daily life and Enrich my view of the world
    - Personality of the destinations: Adventurous, Explorative, Unique, Active and Friendly
  - Broadening your Horizon:
    - Emotional benefits sought by the tourist: Discover new and interesting places, Broaden my horizon, Broaden my knowledge, Enrich my view of the world and Rich experiences
    - Personality of the destinations: Friendly, Authentic, Open-minded, Relaxed and Cultivated
Executive summary - Main findings

- Assessment of Norway in the Netherlands
  - Emotional benefits associated with Norway: ‘Allows me to discover new and interesting places’, ‘Helps me to escape from my hectic daily life’, ‘Gives me rich experiences’, ‘Allows me to broaden my horizon’ and ‘Enriches my view of the world’
  - Personality associated with Norway: ‘Adventurous’, ‘Peaceful’, ‘Fresh’ and ‘Soothing’
  - Destination features associated with Norway: ‘Has beautiful nature’, ‘Has nature that offers opportunities for discovery’, ‘Is not too warm’, ‘Has unspoiled nature’ and ‘Has quiet environments’
  - Activities associated with Norway: ‘Observe beauty of nature’, ‘Observe natural phenomenon’, ‘Experience mountains’, ‘Hiking (more than two hours)’, ‘Hiking (less than two hours)’

- 24% of the Dutch in the sample have visited Norway, which is lower than for Sweden and Denmark.
- However Norway is the most frequently considered Scandinavian holiday destination in The Netherlands. This demonstrates that Norway has unrealised potential.
- 32% of the Dutch in the sample are considering going on holiday to Norway in the next three years.
Executive summary – Conclusions

- Despite a slightly differentiated position compared to competing destinations, Norway does not attract a lot of (repeat) visitors
  - The proportion of people who have ever visited Norway is low compared to other destinations
  - Repeat visiting is also lower than average

- Norway does not clearly 'own' any motivational segment
  - In the Netherlands, Norway is best positioned with Exploration
  - But the strength of this association is relatively weak
1a. Introduction

Background and who we spoke to in the research
The purpose of the research:

TO IDENTIFY THE BEST MEANS OF STRENGTHENING THE FUTURE OF THE NORWEGIAN TRAVEL INDUSTRY

TO UNDERSTAND THE COMPETITIVE LANDSCAPE AND TARGET NEEDS TO PROMOTE INNOVATION AND COMMUNICATION

In order to do so, this research provides answers to the two questions:

- What is the ideal holiday?
- How are destinations (brands) positioned?
Evaluate / Confirm current direction for Norway

Conceptual framework

Cross-country
- Germany
- Russia
- The Netherlands

Choose target for each holiday type
- Skiing
- Sightseeing/roundtrip
- City trip/city break
- Camping
- Experience nature
- Cottage
- Active holiday
What have we done ....

We have created qualitative hypothesis
four focus groups in each country

We have validated them quantitatively
1,200 interviews online in each country

Who did we speak to:
To be included in the study, the respondent had to have been on a holiday abroad that included at least three overnight stays during the past 24 months, and where the trip was not paid for by their employer.

The respondent also had to be interested in going on holidays to experience either; dramatic, wild nature and beautiful scenery, or outdoor activities, e.g. skiing, hiking or cycling, or clean and unspoiled nature, or local art, culture and lifestyle.

This of course limits the sample somewhat, as this is not a study of the total population in each market. The reason for this screening is that we wanted to interview prospective Norwegian tourists.
Demographics of the survey sample compared with the total population

Gender
- Total population: Females 51%, males 49%
- Survey sample: Females 47%, males 53%

Age
- 60-65: 10% (Survey) vs. 17% (Population)

- Higher education: 29% (Survey) vs. 61% (Population)
- Middel (Secondary vocational): 42% (Survey) vs. 42% (Population)
- Lower (11 grades of secondary school): 28% (Survey) vs. 14% (Population)
1b. Introduction
Basic motivations for going on holiday
The same person, but different situations and different motivations

As consumers, we often have different needs depending on the situation. This also applies to holidays. A weekend getaway with a partner has to fulfil different needs than a skiing weekend with friends. This report is, therefore, based on different occasions – by occasion we mean different holidays.
To get inside the consumer’s mind, we need to go deeper. 80% of human behaviour is explained by the sub-conscious. We therefore need to use methods that enable us to dig deeper into consumers’ minds, to identify those layers of information that really govern human behaviour.

This is why we have chosen the Censydiam model for this project.
Having a compass or a map helps us to navigate the land of motivations. The research helps us to do this...
The Censydiam model
We have identified eight motivational segments. They represent the different basic motivations for why people go on holidays.

- HARMONY
- TOGETHERNESS
- SHARING GOOD TIMES
- GOOD TIMES
- LIBERATION
- EXPLORATION
- LUXURY
- BROADENING MY HORIZON
- ROUTINE
The Censydiam model has two main dimensions; the personal and the social.

- The vertical axis is the personal dimension.

On this side of the axis, we have people who approach the ideal holiday abroad in an open manner. They want to enjoy and explore the new world. They surrender to the new surroundings and enjoy them to the fullest. Within this new world, behaviour is more impulsive.

On the other side of the axis, we have people who have a more controlled and restrained approach to the ideal holiday. Going on holiday for them is accompanied by feelings of insecurity. They try to control these feelings by setting rules and boundaries. A lot of planning is involved in this structured way of going on holiday.

Enjoy to the fullest
Impulsive

Controlled
Planned
The horizontal axis is the second dimension:
- The social dimension

Individual performance
- Personal enrichment

Social
- Be part of something
- Mental relaxation

On this side of the axis, we have people who approach the ideal holiday in an individual manner and try to distinguish themselves from their surroundings by means of this new world. They use this escape to deliver a certain performance. These people are relatively active and have a need for expansion, cultivation and discovery.

On the other side of the axis, we have people who are more socially involved when escaping into a new world. They try to shape the new world in a relaxed manner. It is a more passive escape in which being together, being sociable and atmosphere are most relevant. Mental relaxation is extremely important.
1c. Introduction

How these needs and motivations can be identified?
People travel abroad because the holiday or destination in some sense serves certain needs. These needs may be fundamentally physiological (e.g. a place to sleep = hotel).

But when several options can satisfy the same need, a role for branding arises. People use holidays to satisfy more psychological needs and people choose types of holidays to reflect their personality, convey who they are to others, fulfil a deeper meaning in life, reinforce their own self-concept etc.

Hence, psychological needs play an important role in consumers’ decision-making and influence consumer behaviour.

In this context, a brand will succeed if it addresses a psychological need better than other brands.

Hence, stakeholders in the tourism industry need to examine their branding.

- What fundamental psychological need should we target?
- How can we differentiate our brands (products/services) from our competitors’?
People don’t buy products – they want to satisfy certain needs.

We need to shift the focus from products to the tourists (by putting people first).

In order to move from a product focus to putting consumers first, we need to look at WHY people go on holiday. WHAT are they seeking? HOW does the holiday experience represent them? And WHAT connotations are attached to different holiday experiences?

A motivational approach gives a much broader, richer starting point for engaging in conversation with our tourists.

Instead of product focus...

...focus on motivational benefit

...or personality

'Rorbuferie'/ holiday in a fisherman’s cabin

Share good times with others

Active, explorative and adventurous

This report will give you an insight into the basic psychological needs that you as a stakeholder in the tourism industry need to know about in order to optimise your communication and product development.
We need to understand 'who is doing what, when and where' in the holiday market by answering the question 'why'

Research objective:
- To identify the needs that people try to satisfy with holidays abroad.
- To systematically explore the interrelation with the other 'Ws' defining the context of behaviour.

1. WHY do people go on holiday? What are their needs and motivations?
2. WHO? What differences can we identify with respect to demographics?
3&4. WHEN and WHERE? At which specific OCCASIONS do the motivations occur?
5. WHAT? Which destinations best satisfy the different motivations today? What ‘qualities’ do these destinations have? Which motivations remain relatively less satisfied?

What do we ask about?

- How is Norway positioned as a holiday destination?
- The competitive landscape (Norway vs. other countries)
  - What an ideal holiday looks like
- How Norway should be positioned (in relation to communication, products and service provision)
- Gaps where Norway has weaknesses either in people’s perception of Norway or in relation to their actual holiday experiences

* People have different needs depending on the situation. This report is therefore based on different occasions, rather than different individuals.
  – by occasion we mean different holidays
The ideal holiday can be explained by four different factors:

1. Personality of the destination
   - Relaxed
   - Active
   - Authentic

2. A set of activities
   - Skiing
   - Visit museums
   - Observe nature
   - Saltwater fishing

3. Emotional benefits sought
   - Discover new and interesting places
   - Escape from hectic daily life
   - Share good times with others

4. Destination features
   - Friendly people
   - Interesting sights
   - Beautiful nature

Ipsos MMI
Explanation of the four factors of an ideal holiday

- Emotional benefits sought (emotional)
  - An emotional benefit is often a complex, positive statement that our respondents are able to make about themselves due to their use of and attachment to Norway/other destinations and their features.
  - Examples: A holiday in Norway allows me to share good times with others, a holiday in Norway allows me to discover new and interesting places.

- Personality of the destination (emotional)
  - A destination (brand) personality is usually expressed as an adjective. The purpose of personality attributes is to help personify the destination, give life to it and to give it a distinctive 'brand voice'.
  - Examples: Fresh, adventurous, safe, relaxed, soothing, active etc.

- To give content to the emotional segments and measure the perception and performance of the destinations, we also asked about the activities and characteristics of destinations.

- Set of activities (functional)
  - Examples: Fishing, skiing, hiking

- Destination features (functional)
  - Qualities and characteristics of a destination
  - Examples: Has friendly people, has beautiful nature
Using the ideal holiday to understand basic needs for going on holiday

Understanding the four different factors of a holiday (emotional benefits, personality, activities and destination features) is a way of decoding a holiday.

Most human behaviour is explained by the sub-conscious. We should, therefore, use emotional factors to understand our needs and motivations.

The segments in this report are defined by statistically grouping (clustering) the emotional benefits sought and the personality of the ideal holiday on a given occasion.
2. Fundamental meaning

- The holiday market in The Netherlands.
- Fundamental meaning of going on holiday.
- Segments
- Assessment of Norway
We start with cultural context because it is vital for understanding and communicating with the Dutch market

- Culture is all aspects of life, the totality of views, ideas and beliefs shared by individuals within a group of people. Culture is learned, it includes language, values, norms and customs.

- Understanding cultural context helps us to develop products and communication that is better targeted to the local market.

- As you will see from the report, the basic task of holidays is to 'help you escape from your daily life!'

- You therefore need to know a little bit about Dutch culture to understand how this can be done.

- Consumers respond to values that are culturally ingrained and have a fundamental personal meaning for them as human beings. An understanding of the cultural context in the market therefore enables you to better understand the basic needs they seek to satisfy (i.e. the motivational segments in this report).

General understanding of The Dutch culture

Calvinist Culture: Understatement is the Norm

- The Dutch culture is historically based on Calvinistic principles. These are the strongest in the countryside of the Netherlands. This has implications for everyday life...
  - Don’t show off your success, status or money
  - The Dutch tend to live modestly and are level-headed
  - Are thrifty and have a reserved attitude
  - They are not used to expressing their emotions in public
  - Income is not a subject of conversation
  - Welfare state: the government has a big influence on our norms and values.
  - Don’t spend money if you haven’t got any (use of credit card is not very common in everyday life)
  - A lot of rituals (e.g. dinnertime is set, drinking coffee at set times), less impulsive behavior
  - The Calvinistic (normative) nature also comes up when women go back to work (part-time):
    - Women feeling guilty about working part-time instead of full-time, as they think they need to work more to do their job even better.
    - Women feeling guilty towards their child(ren) about working (even if they are working part-time) and thus about not being able to spend a lot of time with them.
General understanding of The Dutch culture

An Orderly Society

- Clarity and organization is extremely important to the Dutch. In case you don’t know where to go, just look around you and a signpost will tell you!

- The Dutch want things to be well arranged and well structured.

- And the people? They schedule almost every daily event in their calendars. Their days are well-structured, the Dutch are very punctual. Don’t be late! Nine o’clock means 9.00, not 9.15!!
General understanding of The Dutch culture

At times need to cut loose:

- Exuberant and expressive side to Dutch Culture
- National ( +/- organised) celebrations
- Need to release rigidity of Dutch society
General understanding of The Dutch culture

Big Idea: Progressive and Proud

- The Dutch are very proud of being Dutch and of their identity. They like talking about their country, their traditions, their language, their habits et cetera. They have a very rich history as navigators, merchants, explorers, and farmers. Much of the beauty of the country is a heritage of all this.

- Progressiveness and tolerance are characteristic aspects of Dutch culture and most Dutch people. Things which some countries look at with anxiety are completely integrated in The Netherlands. We feel special because of this. A few well-known examples are the way soft drugs (marihuana) are tolerated, and the way the Dutch deal with gay marriage and euthanasia.

- The Dutch are fiercely egalitarian in their values and don’t accept hierarchy. They will always discuss a statement even if it is from someone who holds a higher position; things are not easily accepted.
General perspective of the role of holidays in the Dutch culture

Time spent; working vs. leisure...

- The Dutch are hard, efficient workers and want to earn an honest and fair living, but also value their leisure time: relatively short but highly productive working weeks.

- A lot of part-time workers (often mothers), as working part-time is a legal right in The Netherlands.

- Going on a holiday (abroad) is important, a claimed right (i.e. three weeks in summer).

- Next to the summer holiday, most people also go on a shorter holiday in spring (e.g. winter sports in Austria, France or Switzerland), or on city trips during the year.

- Children have a major influence on choosing a holiday destination when they are involved. Their happiness is most important in choosing a holiday as this ensures the relaxation Dutch people are looking for within a holiday.
General perspective of the role of holidays in the Dutch culture

- Within travelling abroad the Dutch history of navigation, merchants and explorers is rooted in most of us. Everywhere around the world Dutch people can be found. There hardly seems to be a place where you don’t run into the Dutch.

- Respondents typify this as curiosity, the need for exploration, the need for variation of daily life and surrounding.

- The respondents feel there has been a change in travelling abroad. Where holidays and trips used to be an exception and merely situated in the Netherlands itself, it slowly progressed to holidays/trips abroad in Europe. Nowadays however there is also a focus on exploring the unknown world and experience the most unusual (and far) places. But this is even less special than it used to be.

- Besides that, there is a shift from more fixed times to go on holidays to times that fit your wants and needs (when possible with children and work).
Key insight from qualitative

It seems especially important for the Dutch to get away from the typical Dutch society that is so structured, stressed, full of rules and demands. Other cultures and a different surrounding gives them the opportunity to free themselves and get reloaded.
In the research, we found that there are some common denominators across all types of holidays and across all segments:

Holidays abroad must always help you to escape from your daily life!

The core of all holidays is about:

- Escapism
- New and interesting places
- Being together

All holidays must fulfil these criteria irrespective of the type of holiday

Items on the list = many respondents have ticked this = core of the subject at hand

Items that appear in bold = over index = is unique to the subject, i.e. differs from other subjects. I.e. if Norway has a high index on an item, this item makes Norway different from other destinations.
Instead of just looking at the overall perception of Norway, what we do here is allocate people’s perception of Norway to their dominant idea of each segment. The slide shows an index number that indicates the fit between Norway and each segment compared with competitors.

Fit (from -1 to +1) of the perceptual profile of Norway with what each of the segments are looking for. A score of 1 means that Norway delivers exactly what the segment is looking for; a score of -1 means Norway represents the exact opposite of what people are looking for in that segment.

- Perfect fit (>0.60)
- Good fit (0.30-0.60)
- Neutral fit (-0.25-0.29)
- Negative fit (<-0.25)

Norway has a fragmented brand footprint.

5a. Key Conclusions
- Across all three markets

GLOBAL CONCLUSIONS
Key Conclusions - Across all three markets

Despite a slightly differentiated position compared to competing destinations, Norway is not relevant enough to attract a lot of (repeat) visitors

- Norway fails to attract a lot of visitors
  - The share of people that have ever visited Norway is low compared to other destinations.
  - Repeat visiting is also lower than average.

- Norway has a fragmented brand footprint and does not clearly 'own' any motivational segment.
  - Across all markets, Norway is often associated with Exploration and Broadening your Horizon.
  - But the strength of this association is relatively weak.
5b. Key Conclusions & Recommendations

The Netherlands
1. Reach minimum level of generic holiday expectations

2. Positioning of Norway: Norway is mostly associated with Exploration
Norway delivers pretty well on the emotional level

Key Conclusions – The Netherlands

1. Reach minimum level of generic expectations

What Dutch tourists want in general:
- Helps me to escape from my hectic daily life
- Allows me to discover new and interesting places
- Allows me to share good times with others
- Helps me live life to the fullest
- Gives me rich experiences

How Norway delivers (based on how they see Norway):

Emotional Benefits (for the tourist)
- Norway delivers well on helping to escape
- Norway does not deliver very well on discovering new places
- Norway does not deliver very well on sharing good times
- Norway delivers well on helping to live life to the fullest
- Norway delivers well on giving rich experiences

Personality (for Norway)
- Relaxed: Norway does not deliver
- Friendly: Norway does not deliver
- Active: Norway delivers well
- Soothing: Norway delivers well
- Peaceful: Norway delivers well
Norway does not deliver on the functional level

What Dutch tourists want in general:
- Has beautiful nature
- Is easy to travel to
- Has interesting sights
- Has friendly people
- Is safe

How Norway delivers (based on how they see Norway):

Product characteristics (for Norway)
- Has beautiful nature: delivers well
- Is easy to travel to: does not deliver very well
- Has interesting sights: does not deliver very well
- Has friendly people: does not deliver very well
- Is safe: does not deliver very well

Key Conclusions and Recommendations – Netherlands
1. Reach minimum level of generic expectations

Activities (in Norway)
- Relaxation: does not deliver very well
- Attend sightseeing tours: does not deliver very well
- Observe the beauty of nature: delivers well
- Visit restaurants: does not deliver very well
- Taste local food and drink: does not deliver very well
Key Conclusions – Netherlands
1. Reach minimum level of generic expectations

- A social, less isolated experience
  - ‘Populate’ towns and landscapes
  - Communicate lively towns and villages
  - Isolation as a choice, not a given

- An easy, comfortable travel experience
  - Easy booking
  - Visualising the holiday: knowing how to travel, where to go
  - Make it easy to travel around
  - Portray friendly 'Scandinavian' people
Key Conclusions – Netherlands
1. Reach minimum level of generic expectations

- Local cuisine
  - Importance of local food and drink
  - Also a good variety of contemporary international cuisine

- Offer a wide range of activities and interesting sights
  - Not just the more extreme and niche activities that Norway is currently most associated with

- Importance of cultural differences between the two countries
  - It is not like home!
  - Rich experiences that help you escape from your hectic daily life
Key Conclusions – Netherlands

2. Positioning of Norway: Norway is mostly associated with Exploration

- Addresses 18% (the segment volume of Exploration) of all Dutch holidays abroad
- Already the most important reason why the Dutch currently travel to Norway
- Decent perceptual fit
- Competition is relatively weak
  - China, Canada, New Zealand & Scotland all have a presence in this area, but none of them as a strong perceptual or behavioral leader
  - Proximity is key advantage over far away destinations

Togetherness

Description
Segment core:
- Holidays are a means of intensifying or cultivating relationships with others, especially family or extended family. They are about reinforcing emotional bonds with loved ones.
- Holidays abroad provide a nice framework for experiencing special moments together. People within this segment basically look for a time/place that allows them to share activities together and it is therefore important that the destination provides a varied range of different activities (for different age groups) so that everyone is happy and feels included.
- It is important to be able to spoil our loved ones.
- It is also important that they can experience a homey feeling, that they can move around freely, without feeling restricted, e.g. by rules of conduct.

Most important differentiators:

Harmony
- Cultivated, contemporary and caring

Segment core:
- The basic motivation for going on holidays is to RECONNECT WITH A SENSE OF HARMONY AND BALANCE, relaxation and recreation.
- A holiday abroad provides opportunities for self-pampering, light-heartedness and lifting spirits. Provides a sense of reconnecting with the whole world, belonging to a broader community.
- A holiday abroad guarantees pleasurable/indulgent experience, lots of new and bright impressions.
- Experiences/satisfaction are key: Shift of mood and emotions in positive direction, restores the sense of harmony and balance within oneself and one’s environment, provides a wide variety of new sensorial experiences – try, touch, sense. Restaurants, local food, cities, shopping etc.
- Enjoy the dedicated service provided, the thoughtful care of staff at their holiday resort, to let themselves be fully pampered, helping them to escape from their stressful lives, to unwind and leave all responsibilities behind.

- Taste local food and drink
- Attend sightseeing tours
- Observe the beauty of nature
- Visit cities

Type of holiday:
- Cottage holiday
- Sun and beach holiday
- Camping holiday
- Visiting friends and relatives
- Ski holiday

Segment core:
- The basic motivation for going on holidays is to have things much as they are at home. They bring their normal world into the new world.
- No surprises, practical and structured holidays, so that they can relax and recharge. They often don’t have a lot of time, so the holiday needs to be structured. They also often travel with small children and hence need to feel in control.
- They deal with the escapism of holidays in a restrained manner. The new world makes them feel insecure and they don’t know what to expect or what they need to be aware of. They therefore try to gather as much information as possible before the holiday.
- As they need to have a certain sense of security, they usually stay in one place during their holidays. Staying in different places would be a constant reminder of their own insecurity.
